Gladys Parks Baker Admits
Slaying One of Two
Roger Children

MAN ALSO HELD

Maintains Composure, Asserting for Hours Tots Met
Natural Deaths

CAMDEN, N. J., Nov. 11.—(INS)—Gladys Parks Baker, alleged baby-killer, today broke down beside the grave she had dug with her own hands for little Timothy Rogers, at Absecon, N. J.

Miss Parks, former piano-player and model, was taken to the clump of bushes and asked by Prosecutor Clifford Baldwin if it was the spot where she had left the tot's body. "Yes," she whispered.

"Tell us just how you did it," urged Baldwin.

"Oh, I don't remember," replied the woman as she went into hysterics.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 11.—Gladys Parks Baker, South Jersey's "stone" woman, crumbled today under 24 hours of merciless police grilling and half-way admitted the slaying of one of the two little Roger children, Dorothy and Timothy, for whose murders she was sought through half a dozen states. The battered skeletons of the two little tots were found in South Jersey wastelands.

Her stone-like composure broken by the continuous grilling the woman admitted slaying the five-year old girl with a blow of her hand and hiding her body near National Park, N. J. The body of the child's 20-months old brother was hidden in a thicket near Absecon she confessed. He died a natural death, she insisted.

Startled at the sordid details of the crime Camden authorities broke all precedents and convened a Sunday court holding her without bail for the Grand Jury. The fear-stricken common-law husband of the 35-year old blonde, apparently overwhelmed at her confession, also was held without bail as a material witness. He is Anthony Baker, 26, member of an old Newark family.

Surrendering in Newark, N. J., early Sunday explaining she was wanted in Camden and came into the police headquarters to "straighten" out the matter, Mrs. Baker was grilled and rushed to Camden where she was grilled and grilled again as police endeavored to force a confession from her. Through all the hours of the ordeal she maintained her rocklike composure asserting the children died natural deaths. It was during repeated accounts of the death of the little girl that she halfway admitted the child died at her hands last night. The boy fell down the cellar steps of the home where she was living in Camden and died from the effects of the fall, she said. He died August 22. The girl had died on August 7. She hid the girl's body under some bushes after keeping it in her home until the neighbors began to question her regarding the peculiar odor about the building, she told the police. The boy's body was taken to Absecon because she feared to report his death after the little girl's disappearance being afraid of police questioning.

Miss Helen Houser Is Tendered Surprise Party

Miss Helen Houser, of 434 Pond street, was pleasantly surprised on Friday evening, where returning home from visiting a friend to find the members of her Sunday School class, waiting to greet her.

The party was given in honor of her fourteenth birthday anniversary, and also as a farewell party, as Helen will shortly leave for an extended visit up the State.

The evening was spent playing various games, singing, etc., and at a late hour the guests were invited to the dining room, where refreshments of fruit, pudding, cake and cocoa was served. The dining room was prettily decorated for the occasion, with pink and white crepe paper streamers and a bouquet of chrysanthemums was placed in the center of the table. Favors were baskets filled with candy and each guest received a large lolly-pop.

The guests then departed for their homes, after wishing Helen many more happy birthdays. Those present were:

Mrs. David Mulholland, teacher of the class, Margaret Koch, Helen Allen, Ella Mae Smith, Helen Lodge, Elizabeth Phillips, Ida Hampton, Dorothy Mulholland, Dorothy Hagerman, Phyllis Koch and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Houser, and children, Helen, Mildred and Clifford.

Helen was the recipient of many pretty gifts.

ARMISTICE DINNER FOR SOBY POST AUXILIARY

Annual Affair Held at Langhorne Attended by One Hundred

SHORT SPEECHES MADE

LANGHORNE, Nov. 11.—The annual Armistice dinner served in the Memorial House, here, Saturday evening, by American Legion Auxiliary of Jesse W. Soby Post, No. 148, was attended by 100 members of the Legion, Auxiliary, and their friends.

Guests of honor upon this occasion were: William Zimmerman, recently elected commander of the ninth district; Mrs. Rao Brodbeck, eastern director of the American Legion Auxiliary; and Mrs. Wipf, president of the bi-county council, composed of the auxiliaries.

The toastmaster of the evening was Isaac Brooks, of Hulmeville, chaplain of the Legion post. A welcome was extended the many guests by Mrs. Thomas B. Longhurst, of Hulmeville, president of the hostess auxiliary.

In her brief talk Mrs. Brodbeck asked that all remember the men in the hospitals who are fighting—fighting for their lives. She called particular attention to rehabilitation work and child welfare.

The short talk of the district commander, Mr. Zimmerman, was eagerly listened to by those assembled. He touched upon the many phases of Legion and Auxiliary work, and asked that all go forward in their good work, not forgetting what the boys had given in the days of the World War.

Greetings were also extended by Warren Randall, recently elected commander of Soby Post. Two vocal solos given in pleasing manner by Mrs. Harry Neiland, were: "My Lassie," and "Sleepy Hollow Tune."

The appetizing menu consisted of: fruit, cup, roast turkey, filling, parsley mashed potatoes, sweet potato croquettes, peas, cranberry sauce, cold slaw, celery, olives, rolls, coffee, ice cream, small cakes, salted nuts, mints.

The main room of the memorial house was attractive in its holiday decorations of red, white and blue crepe paper. Upon the tables were red, white and blue candles, bowls of cut flowers; and at each place was placed a favor.

A four-piece orchestra furnished music for dancing.

Sunday School Class Holds Interesting Meeting

Sunday School Class No. 11 of the Methodist Episcopal Church, taught by Mrs. George W. Miller, recently held a regular monthly business meeting at the home of Mrs. Miller.

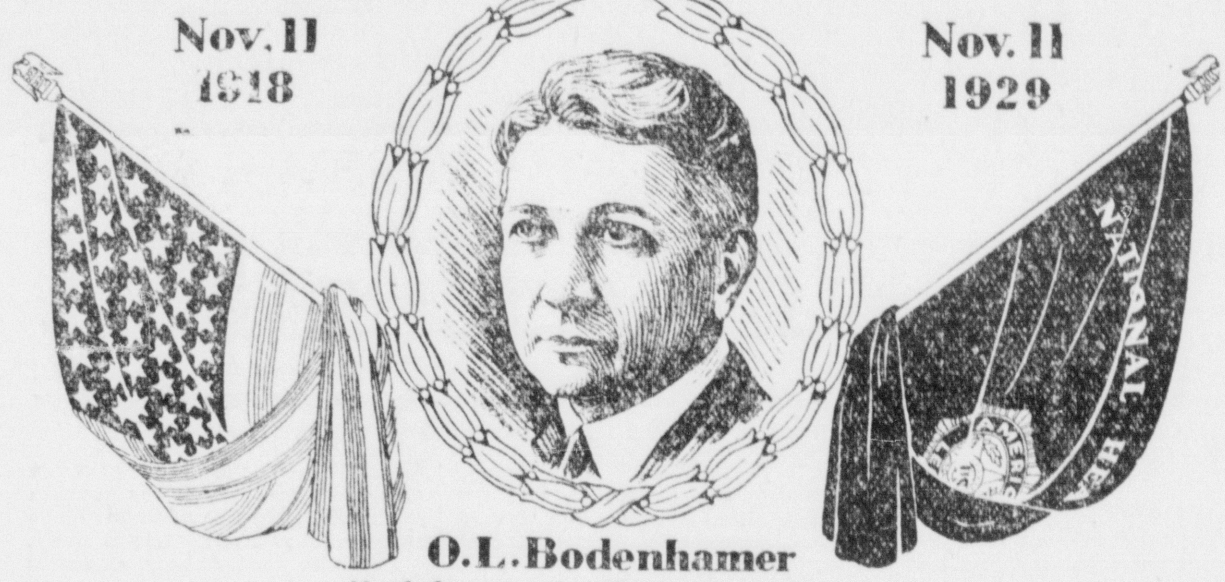

The usual routine of business was transacted, at which time the committee was appointed to take care of the annual Christmas party, which the class holds each year for the needy children of Bristol. The class members will appreciate the co-operation of the older folks of the town by forwarding them the names and addresses of any worthy children, whom they know will not have Christmas provision made for them by anyone else. Please phone 529-W or write Mrs. George W. Miller, 117 Mulberry street.

The members of the class likewise, pledged a sum of money to be given toward the improvements in the general Sunday School room.

After enjoying refreshments, the class members departed for their homes.

Those present were: Mrs. Martha Appleton, Mrs. Ruth Boyle, Mrs. Christine Gilbert, Mrs. George W. Miller, Miss Melba Smith, Miss Beatrice Lovett, Miss Zula Warrick, Miss Dorothy Case.

The American Legion Carries On

ARMISTICE DAY MESSAGE TO THE PEOPLE OF AMERICA

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., Nov. 11.—O. L. Bodenhamer, national commander of The American Legion, today issued an Armistice Day message to the people of America as follows.

"Memories of the gallant service, performed by the men of America on the battlefields of France, come flooding back today with an ever-increasing vividness. We turn back the pages of the past and live again those never-to-be-forgotten moments of victory which brought unrestrained joy and gladness to the world.

"The American Legion, composed of the men who helped make possible that great achievement of eleven years ago, is today engaged in the task of preserving and perpetuating in peace those same high ideals of service which inspired our men in 1917 and 1918 to stake their lives for their country.

"Armistice Day has a peculiar significance to the men of the Legion because it not only revives cherished memories but it serves to impress upon all veterans their duty of continued service to the nation. A day of joy though this may be, still it strikes hard the note of loyalty which characterized the service of our men in time of war and which should characterize their service in time of peace.

"Conceived out of the common interests of those who served, the spirit of The American Legion today is the spirit which spurred our men to noble deeds on the field of battle. The Legion is justifying its existence with a program of good citizenship, with untiring devotion to the care of our disabled comrades and dependent children of veterans, advancing the principles of Americanism, and giving unselfish service towards the betterment of our city, state and nation.

"Our celebration of this Armistice Day, however, would be to no avail if we do not take advantage of the splendid opportunity it affords, to pledge anew our allegiance to flag and country, and to reflect upon the duties and obligations which we, as citizens, owe to the nation. The lives, which were snuffed out in the blaze of the World War, will not have been sacrificed in vain if we dedicate our best efforts to the uplift of the nation and to the preservation of those glorious principles of freedom and democracy for which our comrades died."

POLICE GET BOOZE IN COUPE ALONG HIGHWAY

Patrolman Koons Attracted
By Drippings from Rear
Of the Machine

DRIVER UNDER ARREST

SOUTH LANGHORNE, Nov. 11.—Noticing drippings coming from the rear of a coupe as it was being driven along the Lincoln Highway here Saturday afternoon, Patrolman Koons halted the driver of the car. The machine was searched and found to contain 150 gallons of Belgian grain alcohol. The alcohol was in 39 five-gallon cans.

Koons was doing regular police duty and was patrolling the Highway. He saw drops of liquid falling from the rear of the machine and riding his motorcycle up beside the driver asked him to remain a while.

The car was a new coupe. Patrolman Koons at about 3.30 o'clock Saturday afternoon came upon the machine and halted it. After the driver had stopped the car was searched and resulted in finding the alcohol.

The driver gave the name of G. H. Schwartz, 119 Oakland Court, Pittsburgh, and he said that he was transporting the cans between New York and Pittsburgh.

Koons ordered Schwartz to drive to Morrisville where State Highway patrolmen there escorted the driver and the coupe to Doylestown. The alcohol is under guard at Doylestown.

LEGION HONORS DEAD WITH IMPRESSIVE SERVICE

Brief Ceremony Held in Post
Home at 11 o'Clock
This Morning

VISIT THE CEMETERIES

Robert W. Bracken Post, No. 382, American Legion, this morning held brief but impressive services in the Legion Home in commemoration of those who paid the supreme sacrifice in the late World's War.

The Post members gathered in the Home and the Post officers read the ritualistic service for Armistice Day. There was two minutes of silence in memory of those who died in the great conflict.

A bugler sounded taps. Delegations then visited the cemeteries where ex-service men are buried.

Red Cross Opens Drive For Annual Membership

Congress authorizes the Red Cross to function; the President of the Nation heads it. It represents both the Government and the people, but it is upon the people alone it depends for the support of its work for humanity in the local community, in the nation at large, and internationally.

This essential support is derived from membership. Every one has the privilege and the duty of being a member of the Red Cross; the strength of the organization is built upon this representative, democratic membership.

Annually, from Armistice Day to Thanksgiving, the Red Cross invites all the people to join, or to renew their membership for another year. As the demands for its services multiply, there is increasing need for a larger membership.

When you join, you help directly to maintain continuously the practical, humanitarian services of your Red Cross. You assist in preventing unnecessary suffering and death from avoidable causes. You give instant and effective relief to disaster-stricken homes. You take part in providing assistance to disabled war veterans and their families, in bringing the benefits of public health nursing to thousands of communities and in spreading knowledge of proper methods of first aid, life saving, home hygiene and care of the sick, and nutrition; you participate in training the youth in the schools for unselfish service; you extend sympathy and aid to peoples of other lands.

Join this year. Ask a friend to join.

TURKEY BAZAAR

A turkey bazaar will be conducted at the station of Bristol Fire Company No. 1, November 22, 23, 25, 26, 27.

CARD PARTY

Everything is in readiness for the regular monthly card party which is being held this evening in the Elks Home on Radcliffe street, and given by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Harri-man Hospital. Pinochle, "500" will be played. If there are enough bridge players present, tables will also be arranged for the game of bridge. Table assignments will be made at 8.30 sharp. There will be many pretty gifts awarded for those having high scores. The public is invited to attend and a pleasant evening anticipated.

SIXTEEN HELD IN RAID ON BUNGALOW

The Complaints of Neighbors
Brings Swoop on Place at Neshaminy Falls

FIND BOOZ IN THE PLACE

DOYLESTOWN, Nov. 11.—Two men are being held at the County Prison here pending a hearing on charges of maintaining a disorderly house and violating the National Prohibition Act, and four girls and ten men are being detained as disorderly persons following a raid on a bungalow at Neshaminy Falls about 3 o'clock yesterday morning. It is expected that the party will be arraigned before Justice of the Peace W. Carlisle Hobensack, this evening.

Three members of the Pennsylvania Highway Patrol visited the bungalow which was known as the "Rabbit's Foot," after neighbors complained to the Doylestown sub-station that the revelers were disturbing their sleep. Once in the premises the police discovered a large quantity of alleged high-powered beer and a small amount of whiskey. Some members of the party were so drunk at the time of their arrest they had to be carried from the house.

The liquor charges and responsibility for maintaining a disorderly house were lodged against the two men who had rented the bungalow and who claimed they were Samuel Minette, 24, 2049 Cayuga Street, Philadelphia, and Francis Manco, 26, 1945 Janey Street, of the same city. All those held, with the exception of one man, who said he was Joseph Padeska, of Neshaminy Falls, gave Philadelphia addresses. The girls in the party gave the following names: Beatie Williams, 557 Cheltenham avenue; Rose and Anna Rocco, 1012 South Kent street; Ellen Rielly, 6309 Beaver street. The men gave the names of Alexander Udakim, Louis Dixon, Nicholas V. DiMapele, Michael Santora, Ralph Gregorio, William Blackman, Frank D. Ambrosio, Joseph Cook and Samuel DiMapele.

ATTENDS RECITAL

Mrs. Elizabeth Cox, of 119 Pond street, who is now nursing in a private hospital in Philadelphia, attended the organ recital of the Presbyterian Church, 18th and Arch streets, Philadelphia.

CARD PARTY

The Young Men's Association to-night will conduct its semi-monthly card party in the club rooms. Another record attendance is anticipated.

Turkey Card Party To Be Given by St. Mark's Church

The annual turkey card party given by St. Mark's Church, will be held Monday evening, November 25th, in St. Mark's School Hall on Radcliffe street.

This card party is the largest one given in Bristol each year, and at a recent meeting the various committees were appointed and they plan to make this party the largest ever held in town.

The games "500", pinochle and bridge will be played and table assignments will be made at 8.30 sharp.

Fifteen turkeys will be given away as prizes, besides numerous other valuable gifts. A turkey will also be given as a door prize. This card party being held a few days before Thanksgiving will make it interesting for everybody to try their luck for a turkey.

Refreshments will also be on sale.

The public of Bristol and vicinity is invited to attend this party and everyone present will enjoy the evening.

ST. ANN'S ADD ANOTHER VICTORY TO THEIR LIST

Local XI Defeats St. Cecilia
Catholic Club in One-
Sided Contest

FINAL SCORE IS 13 TO 0

By T. M. Juno

The Bristol St. Ann's powerful eleven with its scoring machine in high gear added another victim to its now enlarged list when they downed the strong eleven representing St. Cecilia Catholic Club of Philadelphia by a 13-0 count.

The victory was the fourth of the season for the Purple and Gold and this, although slightly marred with a 7-7 tie and one defeat, stands out as a vast achievement for any local eleven. Thus far this season the "Saints" have scored ninety points while their opponents have netted twenty-one tallies. The Bristol boys have a record of scoring in every game played.

St. Cecilia made the journey to Sullivan's Field with a much stronger line-up than what represented them when they handed the "Saints" a 12-6 defeat last season. The eleven here yesterday was the same team that defeated Darby A. A. earlier in the season.

The invaders came here highly determined to have a repetition of last season but were surprised before the first quarter ended. By that time the Bristolians had ventured past their goal line twice.

"Eddie" Roe, local red-headed end, was the first to score. After the courageous St. Ann's backfield had carried the ball from mid-field to the twenty-yard line, Spadaccino heaved a pass intended for Roe. The pigskin was thrown a little too high and into the gape of the bright sun, but Roe batted down the egg-shaped ball with one arm and caught it on the downward flight. A wonderful catch it was and certainly a well-earned six pointer.

The large visiting throng as well as the Bristol crowd gave the local wingman a deserved applause. Cook's attempt at the extra point was blocked.

The Bristol supporters had another opportunity to show cheering spirit in the same quarter. Receiving the oval on its forty yard stripe the Purple and Gold launched another drive. When the visitors' 40 yard mark was reached, Spadaccino and Cook doing a perfect lateral pass with Cook doing the end work. Behind excellent interference and his speed and twists the St. Ann's backfield ace tallied. He also boosted the seventh point.

After this the battle was nip and tuck. The invaders made some hard charging attempts to count but found the Bristol eleven too strong and saw play after play smeared. St. Cecilia's reached the "Saints" twenty yard line in the third quarter but could not advance any further and like some of the rest of the Philadelphia teams went home with a sad story to relate.

Opportunity knocked on the locals' door on several more occasions during the game but the strength and spirit of the St. Cecilia Club refused to leave them and at one time the Bristol boys had the ball on the five-yard line, but could not bring it over.

It would be entirely wrong to give any individual enough credit to say they won the game for Bristol but it must be said that the playing of Kornstedt, Roe, Seneca and Cook was a little superior than the rest.

Walker and West showed up as the visitors' best. Walker gave the best exhibition of line crashing seen here this season.

Next week's opponents will be announced later.

The St. Ann's management has again taken up the Eddington A. A. question and wishes to state that they think the Eddingtonians are simply afraid of meeting the St. Ann's eleven. "We are trying our best to bring the Eddington eleven here as our turkey day dish," said the "Saints" manager last night, "and are now willing to play on a winner-take-all basis, if this would please the Eddington eleven. If it is up to the 'Saints' the game will be a nice Thanksgiving Day attraction."

BODY IS FOUND IN NESHAMINY BY TWO GUNNERS

Corpse Floating on Surface of Water and Is Brought Ashore

IDENTITY NOT KNOWN

Fully Clothed and Mystery
Surrounds How Youth
Met His Death

CROYDON, Nov. 11.—Mystery as to the manner in which the young man whose body was found in the Neshaminy Creek here late Saturday afternoon met his death is still confronting the authorities.

The identity of the corpse is still unknown.

The body was found in the Neshaminy Creek near the State Road bridge at about 5.30 Saturday afternoon. The gruesome discovery was made by Wilfred Peters and Harold Leary, two young men of Cornwells Heights. They were returning homeward from a gunning trip.

The body was found floating in the creek. It was fully clothed and the corpse was that of a youth about 18 years of age and physically able to take care of himself.

It is felt certain that the young man came to his death by drowning but still there are certain things which the authorities would like to have cleared up.

The body is at the morgue of the H. S. Rue Estate and is in charge of Deputy Coroner W. Furman Young.

The initials "K. J. H." on a signet ring and on the back of a Walther wrist watch together with a postcard with German writing upon it are expected to aid in clearing up the mystery and fixing the identity.

The victim was about 18 years of age, five feet and eight inches tall, and wore a dark suit, white shirt, brown shoes. The letter "K" is engraved upon a belt which the young man wore.

It is thought that the body had been in the water three or four days. Long immersion in water partially defaced the writing upon the postcard. On the front of the card was a photographic likeness of the victim. The writing on the back, translated from German, read: "This is a picture of my eldest son, Karl." There was no address on the card.

The creek at the point where the body was found skirts the property of the Turngemeinde Club. Peters and Leary, after their find, went to the club house and notified Dewey DeLong, who advised that the Highway Patrol, South Langhorne, be summoned. Patrolmen Koons and Pezzent went to the scene and began an investigation.

What puzzles the authorities is that the young man, apparently, must have been alone and that he got into the water fully clothed. No boat was to be found anywhere.

Today upon searching the bank near the spot where the body was found there was discovered a copy of the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin, of October 28th, and a linen handkerchief with the initials "K. H." embroidered thereon. The latter part of the week a new hat was found upon the bank.

Community Church Holds Card Party in Newportville

NEWPORTVILLE, Nov. 11.—The card party which the Community Church of Newport Road held in the Newportville fire hall was a wonderful success. There was a lovely assortment of prizes given out. ## ARMISTICE DAY

We celebrate today the anniversary of the ending of the most destructive war of history.

Eleven years have passed since the final gun was fired in the murderous conflict that cost millions of lives, billions of dollars and that brought untold misery.

The original Armistice Day was marked by wild jubilation.

People were so happy that the terrible war had ended that they fairly shouted aloud. The streets were thronged with men and women with tears of joy streaming down their faces.

They had been delivered from the nightmare of war, with its daily casualty lists, its constant threat of death and destruction to loved ones.

Eleven years ago the world knew that war was vicious, destructive and horrible.

The boys under arms knew it better than any others.

They fought because they wanted to end war forever.

Armistice Day should be devoted to the ideals they bled and died for.

This means that every Armistice Day should be a day devoted to peace. Peace based upon democracy.

Upon equality of rights.

Upon liberty and justice for all.

That is the way to pay reverent tribute to those who gave their lives for us in Europe.

THOSE WHO PAY

Income tax statistics just compiled and analyzed by the bureau of internal revenue at Washington provide interesting information relating to a number of things.

For instance, the analytical reader will learn from them that one's chances for becoming a millionaire are better in the city and still better if the city happens to be in one of a half dozen or so states. Fat fortunes and inspiring incomes are relatively a rarity on the farm and in the small town.

Industrial states and distribution centers have a corner on the men and women who are paying most of the income taxes. In them millions-a-year incomes come in dozen lots and $100,000 incomes are almost "common."

However, taxable incomes of less than $2,000 a year still predominate, even in such industrial states as Pennsylvania, Ohio and New York. The small income we shall always have with us, but congress shows an increasing tendency to exempt it from taxation.

From the point of view of distribution over the states and population there is little that is equitable about the income tax. More than half of the returns come from five states and those states pay a still higher percentage of the total tax collected.

Love's blind, but that shouldn't make a girl kiss everybody.

You have to cultivate good habits. The bad ones grow wild.

The best reflections come from thinking instead of looking into mirrors.

There are people who never lose an opportunity to enjoy being miserable.

"Americans," says the foreign lecturer, "discuss an annoyance endlessly but never do anything about it." For that reason, foreign lecturers are comparatively safe.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

ITEMS OF INTEREST AS CLIPPED FROM NEWSPAPER FILES

During the camp meeting at Neshaminy Falls Grove two unsuccessful attempts were made to steal horses. However, a third attempt at the home of Captain Alfred Marple proved successful, when a very valuable horse was taken from his stable, according to a copy of the Doylestown Intelligencer dated August 23, 1879.

Two steam yachts, the "Emma Exton" and the "Katie," indulged in an interesting race on the Delaware River. They passed Bristol, Burlington and Edgewater almost side by side. The "Katie" won the race, making nine miles in 45 minutes.

This half century old publication made mention of a number of prominent residents of the county enjoying their vacations at various points. Recorder of Deeds James W. Bartlett, Mrs. Bartlett and their son, Charles, (later Judge Bartlett, of Philadelphia) were enjoying a trip to the New England States. Mr. and Mrs. Harman Yerkes were enjoying a vacation in Saratoga, while District Attorney Shellenberger and L. L. James were enjoying the ocean breezes in Atlantic City. Hon. George Lear was a guest at Long Branch.

Thirty-five years ago or on November 10, 1894, the Newtown Enterprise published the following:

Franklin Eastburn wife, of near Edgewood, quietly celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary.

Horses owned by Jesse C. Dresser, of Newtown, and T. Sidney Caldwell, of Yardley, won the races at the Makefield Driving Park.

Elwood Cox and Son, building contractors, of Dillington, raised the new barn on the farm of Edwin E. Johnson, in Upper Makefield township, on the site of the one destroyed by fire.

Miss Mary S. Wismer, of Mechanics Valley, was appointed teacher of the new school started in the basement of the Hughesian Free School at Buckingham.

Charles Bener, of Feasterville, was given a birthday party by fifty of his friends upon reaching his majority.

Samuel Swain presided at the annual Friends' Temperance Conference at Pottsville. Rachel Carver, Ethel Crossdale, Walter Watson, Ahsah Bristol, Lulla Parr, Ella Moon, Edie Watson and Louise White took part in the program.

The latest trolley news was that the trolley company would build from the center of Hulmeville to Langhorns.

finishing the road to Newtown and Bristol in the spring.

The Austin property on the Delaware, near Eddington, was sold to the Philadelphia Gun Club for $40,000. The fine old mansion was transformed into a club house.

State News

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Nov. 11.—(INS)—In an unusual way filed in the office of the county clerk here, the United States government is made the beneficiary.

Grateful to his government for the pensions he has received Sylvester A. Long, Civil War veteran who died at the age of 82, has left his estate, consisting of about $5,000 in cash and several houses and lots, to the United States.

Long made provision for his burial expenses and bequeathed $1,000 to his granddaughter and sole surviving relative, Miss Madeline E. Long, of this city.

The balance is "returned" to the government. Long is said to have felt morally obligated to give back what he did not use of the pension money he received during his lifetime.

LEWISTOWN, Nov. 11.—(INS)—Hunters the county over envy the good fortune of Meredith Meyers, editor of the Lewistown Sentinel, who bagged a 14-pound wild turkey while enroute to his office from his country home in Linglie Valley.

Meyers saw the turkey in the road ahead and reached for his rifle. One shot brought down the bird, shot in the head.

Seldom indeed is a rifle used with such marked success in shooting wild turkeys.

SYNOPSIS

Violet, a chorus girl, and her fiancé, Wally, enlist the aid of Jerry, understudy to the star, in getting the consent of Wally's uncle to their marriage. Jerry allows Uncle Steve to mistake her for Violet, and assumes the role of a scheming woman so that he will be happy to let someone else marry Wally. Blake, Steve's lawyer, suggests that they take Jerry out to get acquainted before making a final decision, and Jerry's friend, Mabel, comes along. The gold-digging starts, and is brought to a climax by a party which Steve is to pay for. To shock him further, Jerry tells him lies about her past, and when he discovers her duplicity, he leaves her in anger.

Wally arrived on the scene as soon as he thought the girls would be up, to get full particulars of the night before, and Jerry, in all her misery, had to repeat what she had told the girls. She looked pale and ill, and it was an effort for her to have to discuss the thing that had hurt her so much.

It was not a very happy group that prepared to go to rehearsal. Wally, who decided to go along with them, had become silent and morose after hearing the story, and Violet seemed to be on the verge of tears. Of course, since Jerry had cried nearly all night, she looked worse than any of them. Mabel had had too great a disappointment the night before to feel particularly hilarious, and the atmosphere of the place did not help her state of mind any. Mrs. Lamar kept watching Jerry silently, knowing that it was best to say nothing. All except Mabel refused to have anything but a cup of coffee for breakfast, but Mabel's constitution was the kind that had to have food in the face of any calamity. She always improved her disposition anyway by satisfying her hunger, even though she did not improve her figure. Since Topsy and Eleanor were not around, and there was no one to say anything, she ate what her appetite craved—she ate until she could eat no more.

"Don't worry, I know everything will come out all right."

Jerry applied an extra layer of rouge and powder before leaving to make her look more alive, and tried to summon the semblance of a smile when she said good-bye to her mother.

"Don't worry," Mrs. Lamar said. "I know everything will turn out all right for you. It's got to. Besides, he seemed like the kind who would understand."

"It's too late, Mother," Jerry said forlornly. "I'll have to make the best of my foolishness."

At the theatre Jerry was able to have another cry in her dressing room, for the girl she shared her room with had already been there and dressed. She saw ever so clearly now that she had passed up the only real opportunity she had ever had in her life for happiness with a man she could rely on. Barney was sweet, but he was like the rest in a way. He would get tired of her, when another chorus girl came along. Steve was not that kind. He was more tolerant, and there was more substance to him. And in addition to being a real man, he had enough money to give her what she had always wanted. That, however, now was a secondary consideration. She thought she would even marry him without money if he only came back. It was strange that she did not know that she loved him until she saw that he was gone. Perhaps that was the way it always turned out. You lost a good thing because you didn't realize its value while you had it. It took a good shock to make you realize you were in love.

She changed to rehearsal clothes in the same apathetic manner she had gone about everything else that morning. It did not matter to her now if she never went to work. All her incentive had disappeared, and certainly she had lost all her vivacity. Long after she was ready to go out, she still sat there, with her head supported by her cupped hands, waiting—she had not the least idea for what.

It was Mabel who forced her into action.

"Say, kid, haven't you dreamed

Morrell very cordially invited the folks in. The evening was very much enjoyed. Cards, group games and music entertained the guests. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served. The guests departed at a late hour wishing the newly-married couple much happiness.

CROYDON

Mrs. Fogley entertained the Jolly Seven sewing circle on Wednesday. Among those present were: Mrs. William Bennett, Mrs. Elmer Bennett, Mrs. Samuel O'Brien, Mrs. George Hunter, Mrs. August Noble, and Mrs.

Many Accidents Laid To Driving Cars at Road's Left

The greatest single cause of automobile accidents in Pennsylvania in the last nine months was the operation of motor vehicles on the wrong side of the road.

This disclosure is made by the Keystone Automobile Club, in a tabulation of accident causes based on reports received by the Bureau of Motor Vehicles. Fifty-seven persons lost their lives in such accidents. There were 4233 non-fatal crashes, making the total from this cause alone 4290.

"We believe it is important to call attention to this class of accident," says a statement by the club, "because the average driver is unaware of the peril he subjects himself to when he deviates from the rule of keeping to the right. Grade crossing and other spectacular accidents usually carry their own moral, but it is safe to say that very few motorists give any thought to the seriousness of violating this cardinal rule of the road.

"The law is specific in its requirement. Upon all highways of sufficient width," says the Vehicle Code, "except upon one-way streets, the driver of a vehicle shall drive the same upon the right half of the highway, and shall drive a slow moving vehicle as closely as possible to the right-hand edge or curb of such highway, unless it is impossible to travel on such side of highway, and except when overtaking and passing another motor vehicle subject to the limitations applicable in overtaking and passing set forth in this act."

"Another clause in the Code which many motorists ignore, and which, incidentally, has bearing on the present subject, is that requiring vehicles making a right turn to keep as closely as possible to the right-hand curb. It is the custom of thousands of drivers in

THE HOME TOWNERS

BY JOHN LEARY PELTRET
 FROM WARNER BROS. "ALL TALKING" VITAPHONE PICTURE
 BASED ON THE COMEDY BY GEORGE M. COHAN...

SYNOPSIS—Arnold invites Bancroft to be best man. Bancroft suspicious of fiancée and family raises row. Engagement broken. Girl returns wedding gift by brother which mysteriously disappears, but gets the fiancée and family back to Arnold's apartment.

CHAPTER XII
 WHEN things have reached fever heat between the Calhouns, Mrs. Bancroft and Arnold, Bancroft tells them all to be quiet and take seats while he speaks. He has replaced bracelet in jewel case and hands it to Arnold. Then he proceeds to tell them that Wally was right when he called him dangerous, small minded, etc., and that he would be careful in the future.

AS Bancroft finishes his talk Arnold opens the jewel case to find the bracelet restored. Beth begins to cry. Bancroft explains that since he had, by his actions, driven Beth and her family out of Arnold's home and life, that it was up to him to do something to get them back again and taking the bracelet was inspired by that desire to make amends.

THE ice being broken, he asks the ladies to go in the next room and see the handsome gown he bought his wife for the wedding. They go to express their appreciation for its beauty. The men get together and Arnold proposes a bottle of champagne to celebrate. Calhoun says he must open it, as that is his business and Wally drags down the glasses. They all drink a toast.

WHEN the tale is told Arnold has reversed his order to sell control of the bottle washing device, Wally has promised that he will be at the office promptly on time the first day after the wedding, Bancroft vows he will tell his cronies in South Bend to watch their step when dealing with city people and Beth and Arnold are united again and happy in the arms of one another.

making a right turn to swing to the left before entering the intersecting highway. Many accidents have been due to this practice, drivers of following vehicles assuming the car ahead was about to turn left, only to discover the real nature of the maneuver when too late to stop."

PLANE TALK

By HARRY A. SUTTON
 Of the Technical Staff,
 The Aviation Corporation (Written Expressly for International News Service)

II. Preparing to Take-off

For flight in open training planes, the pilot needs helmet and goggles and, in cold weather, a warm flying suit and gloves.

After his machine is wheeled from the hangar, he carefully inspects it, paying particular attention to control wires and surfaces, landing carriage and fuel supply. Once in the cockpit, he examines the instruments and tests the controls by manipulating stick and rudder bar and watching the movements of elevator, ailerons and rudder.

When the wheels have been blocked (chocked), the motor is ready for starting. Before a helper approaches the propeller, he calls "Off!" to make certain that the engine switch is not on. This the pilot confirms by repeating "Off!" Then the propeller is turned a revolution or two to draw raw gas into the cylinders.

"Contact!" calls the helper, signifying that the engine is ready to be started. "Contact!" responds the pilot, throwing the switch. A quick downward pull on the prop starts the motor. Once thoroughly warmed at about 500 revolutions a minute (oil temperature should register 40 degrees centigrade) the pilot, raising the elevator so that the back wash of air (ship stream) from the propeller will prevent the plane from nosing over, accelerates ("revs up") the engine to its maximum r. p. m. and listens closely to its operation.

Satisfied that plane and motor are in good shape, the pilot signals to the helper to withdraw the chocks from before the wheels, moves out (taxies) onto the flying field and, by using rudder, swings the ship around into the wind, as indicated by the wind sock.

East's Greatest Backs Match Rare Talents

Interest in Eastern football is being swayed by two outstanding personalities, Al Marsters, Dartmouth's Ace, and Albie Booth, Yale's superstar. Shakespeare's historic query, "what's in a name?" will be answered when thousands fill the Bowl next Saturday, not alone to see Yale and Dartmouth clash, but to see the duel between the young men playing the stellar roles. The picture shows (left to right) Al Marsters, Captain Armstrong of Dartmouth's eleven, Albie Booth, and

A WAKE OF DESTROYED LOVES FOLLOW

The SQUALL

NUBI—gypsy gale of passion. She's an ill wind that blows no man good. Born of the storm, this half-clad human hurricane takes love where she will—from old, from young—from father, from son. Cyclonic in her caresses, the fury of her passion lays waste the souls of men. Primitive as desire, her multiple love story was the talk of Broadway, on both the stage and screen.
